ECZEMA CLEARED FROM BABY'S FACE

Broke Out In Rash. Caused Disfigurement. Itched So Could Not Sleep.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My baby's ecsema began on her foretend and spread all over her face. It breke out in a rash and caused diefiguremort. My child was very restiess and fresful at night;
it isched so she could not sloop. I had to keep her hands tied up for six weeks.
I tried everything imaginable, but nothing did her sany good. My friends and I thought is would never heat. At last, I tried Cutteurs Soap and Obstansent and in one month she was well."

T the sight of this rabble, coming on menacingly, Count Frederick, never cowardly, reached for the weapon which hung within the motor car. It was Grahame's hand which stopped him.

"Wait, Excellency!" said he. "We dare not risk a battle. They'd cut our throats like so many sheep."

Shouts of laughter broke out among the banditti now, as these two parties joined—and as the two seemed scarce to know what to say to one another. "Come, your money—your valuables!" exclaimed the leader of these ruffians. "You know me? I am Landozi, chief of the Brotherhood. My men like work none too well, and we must eat and drink. Your money, please—or we will take it whether or not you please." "Oblige him, Excellency—give him his man complied.

The banditt now turned to repeat this process with the other two strangers, whom they could not classify as friends or foes of those whom they had now found in the motor car.

"What have we here—a woman, and a beauliful one!" exclaimed the bandit chief. Because, I tell you she is one of the ladies of the King's household—she is protected by King Michael H. himself, no less. She is of his rank in life, I tell you, my brothers. What, would you invoke his anger now, precisely at the time his troops fraternays he has not much money for us. But still, there are other ways. What say you, my fellows, shall we hold her for a rausom?"

The man Roleau her raised his hand and spoke with authority which you give you free her way or another, but since king Michael is well daily not have been rivalled by that of Count Frederick himself, whose word would have carried less weight among these men than that of one of their own rank of life—for so they classified Roleau.

"My friends," he said, "what I have is little and it is yours, for you are friends in the first of the King's troops—shortly we will ride thither together. If you don't mind. As for this lady, lay no hand tupon her. I tell you, she is a high-ness of a foreign land, none less than hand a merica, across the sea."

"And why not fit for ransom then?"

"Because, I tell you she is some of the ladies of the king's horse, ride and it is proceeded by King Michael Is of the ladies of the King's troops—shortly we will recompany you to freely what we have always the proceed of the hands turned to ward his men, but a murmur of assent ratified what Roleau had said.

"Good!" said he, sudderly. "I know you are friends with us would not have been rivalled by the form any of our brotherhood."

"My friends," he said, "what I have is little and it is yours, for you are friends with used to the king's troops—shortly we will crid thither together. If you don't mind. As for this lady, lay no hand in upon her. I tell you, she is a high-ness of a foreign land, none le
